

Family Interventions in Domestic Violence

A Handbook of Gender-Inclusive Theory and Treatment

John Hamel, LCSW
Tonia L. Nicholls, PhD, Editors

"John Hamel and Tonia L. Nicholls...have gathered together leading scholars and practitioners in the field who have the courage to challenge the existing paradigm in the domestic violence field, that all violence is caused by patriarchal ideology, and offer an alternative view based on fitting theory and treatment to both solid research data and the unique needs of family members. This groundbreaking work is based on sound science, but written in a style that will be accessible to students and practitioners, along with family violence scholars. This important contribution tops the short list of 'must read' books for anyone working in the field of domestic violence."

—Sandra M. Stith, PhD, Professor and Program Director
 Marriage and Family Therapy Program, Virginia Tech, Falls Church, VA

"This innovative book will help move the field of family violence forward! After years of intervention, theory, and research, it had become clear that 'one size does not fit all' perpetrators or victims of intimate partner violence. It is important that we embrace alternative approaches that are research and/or theory based, pursue additional types of interventions, and be open to working with all family members to change abusive attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors in relationships. This book includes numerous chapters that meet these goals and describes good programs worth considering...an excellent resource for practitioners, researchers, and advocates!"

—Robert Geffner, PhD, ABPN, ABPP, President, Family Violence & Sexual Assault Institute (FVSAI)
 President, Institute on Violence, Abuse and Trauma (IVAT); Alliant International University

"...an eye opening book that offers pragmatic and innovative solutions on the prevention and treatment of intimate partner violence in the 21st century. As the founder of a gender-inclusive nationwide domestic violence victim's organization I implore public policy makers, law enforcement personnel, and those who work in the domestic violence and mental health fields to read this book!"

—Jan Brown, Founder and Executive Director, Domestic Abuse Helpline for Men and Women
